METHODOLOGY

All selections are made by the editorial team of Global Finance after extensive consultations with bankers, corporate finance executives and analysts throughout the world. In selecting these top firms, factors that range from the quantitative objective to the informed subjective are considered. Quantitative criteria include growth in assets, profitability, geographic reach, strategic relationships, new business development and innovation in products. Among the subjective criteria considered are reputation, customer satisfaction, and the opinions of analysts and others involved in the industry.

The mix of these factors yields leading banks that may not be the largest, oldest or the most diversified in a given country, region or product, but rather the best—the firms with which customers around the world would most likely want to do business.

Judgements are based on performance over the period from the January 1, 2018 to December 31, 2018. (In cases where data may not be available due to different fiscal year reporting, companies have the option to submit data from the fourth quarter of 2017 through the third quarter of 2018.)

An awards ceremony will be held during the IMF/World Bank Annual Meetings in Washington, DC at the National Press Club on the morning of October 12, 2019.
